Extra tools

Many dragons live in caves high in the mountains. Most of these dragons can fly at great speed. Flying is essential for attacking towns and castles. Dragons have great, leathery wings similar to those of bats. They speed through the sky with powerful thrusts of their wings to hunt for prey.

Sea monsters are expert swimmers. Some slither through the water like snakes. Others have bodies or tails like fish. These monsters can swim incredibly fast beneath the water.

A few legendary sea monsters, such as the Kraken, are so huge that they let their prey come to them. Sailors might sail their ships right over the gaping jaws of the gigantic beast. They would not realize their danger until it was too late.

FRIGHTFUL FACT
Chinese dragons usually have no wings or very small wings. But many can still fly with magic.
